Re: Restoring Internet Freedom – WC Docket No. 17-108

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On June 1, 2017, Jake Ward, President and CEO of the Application Developers Alliance, and Christopher Guttman-McCabe, an Advisor to the Alliance, met with Commissioner O’Rielly, Erin McGrath, the Commissioner’s Wireless, Public Safety and International Legal Advisor, and Amy Bender, the Commissioner’s Wireline Legal Advisor, to discuss a range of policy issues that are of importance to our developer members.

We highlighted that our members depend on an open Internet—including enforceable net neutrality rules that ensure that companies can’t discriminate against developers and their products or services, no matter how large or small the company may be. Developers need an Internet – wired and wireless – that is open, competitive, stable, fast, and fair to all who use it. We also highlighted the need for a framework that facilitates continuous investment and innovation by the providers of Internet access. As we shared in the meeting, and as we have stated over the last several months, we believe that the proper way forward is a set of Net Neutrality rules, established by Congress, to finally put this issue to rest.

We also discussed issues involving privacy, data sharing and competition, all of which are key to the success and health of our members’ businesses.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

/s/

Bruce Gustafson
